ABSENTEE JUDGE REVELATIONS.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST: -On the 31st of August I wrote you a letter touching the "non resident institution;" and as Mr. Alfred Lingle would say, "by a strange coincidence" Judge Begbie left Victoria for this colony by the next steamer, followed by the Governor himself in the succeding one. Were I a vain man, I would throw up my cap shouting "shillelah that never missed fire;" but I shall content myself for the present with the coincidence, because I am in doubt as to the results likely to accrue from this double-barrelled visit. Indeed so far as the Judge is concerned the the doubt has been already resolved into certainty, for the "distinguished jurist" instead of shedding the light of his countenance on the settled districts, left Hope by a back trail for Fort Kamloops, where rumor says he is gone to select 4000 acres of land as a joint stock forensic speculation. By his leaving he favored the the escape of two absconding creditors, one of which cases was brought under the cognizance of his Excellency, Governor Douglas. Another rumor alleges that the learned gentleman, assisted by his Registrar and the High Sheriff, has gone to report on the Fort Hope trail. But whatever may be the relative truth of either rumor, I know that the trip will cost the colony close upon a thousand dollars; for the distinguished party purchased mules specially for the occasion: and no doubt will put the whole cost of the excursion to the debit of the public exchequer. Cui bono, say I? What benefit is the publie to have in return? And even giving way to the impossible conjecture, that some bento the impossible conjecture, that some benefit should be derived; it will have been at the cost of serious public mischief in the arrest of justice, by the absence of the London, which carry mosc all the passenguria in those regions one would think he was aspuring to the mantle of the Admirable Crichton, from the multiplicity of pursuits which seem to have challenged the aspirations of his versatile genius. To his judicial functions he has super-added those of legislator, diplomatist, political economist, and engineer—to say nothing of his Union.

A Lucky Frazer Man.—A man named Palmer, recently returned to Jacksonville, Oregon, from Frazer river, with 680 unness of gold dust, or about $11,500. This amount was realized by him from the sale of goods taken to the Upper Frazer by a train of one hundred mules, in April last.—Sac.

apollonic accomplishments which go to captivate the fairer portion of the community. However, to my thinking, if he manages to lay hold of the garment he will-in tailor's slang-be constrained to wear it in the turned shape, exhibiting a ludicrous emblem of perfectability instead of a robe lustrous with the halo of immortality. But "Ei Alexandros bouletai enai theos-esto theos, and give us in God's name a practical mundane Judge, who will attend sedulously to his duties, and not fly in the face of the once famed British Constitutionby being outside his jurisdiction by making laws which he must necessarily administer, by intermeddling in politics and diplomacy, which are sealed books to the dignitaries of Westminster Hall, who I may remark, en passant, are satisfied with their salaries, and never seek to augment their incomes by any fees of office. If our Treasurer or Chancellor of the Exchequer would excuse me in offering a suggestion, I would recommend him in preparing his next balance sheet, to get the full particulars of the polyglot acquirements, nor yet of those ductive improvements. here, I must say he is taking the proper line, and if he only acts up, as I am inclined to think he will,—to the professions he is now most liberally making,—he will soften down, and perhaps ultimately obliterate all those adverse impressions regarding his rule, which have been made on the public mind in British Columbia,-and which I verily believe are mainly owing to the weak, silly, and vacillating counsels of empty empiries and flippant sciolists.

Isolation of the Australian Colonies .- The Panama Route.

SHILLELAH.

These Colonies are almost isolated from the balance of the world. There is no natural chance of communication. For instance, our last dates from England are to April 18th; from the Atlantic States, April 2nd; from California. April 16th; from Chile, April 16th; Panama, February 20th. However, they are trying to establish a line of steamers from Australia to Panama; and if they succeed, it will be the route. The largest portion of the peo-ple are in favor of the route; and when this line is put in operation, news from the west coast of both North and South Amer ica will reach here nearly as soon as it will reach England; while now the news must be sent to England, and then it is fifty odd days getting out here by the Oriental Over-land and Steamship line. These Oriental steamers bring and take away but few pas sengers, on account of their charging £120 ($600) passage; besides there are many other expenses. I am informed, to go by

VICTORIA, V. I.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 80,

OUR CONSTITUTION A DEAD LETTER.

Last May the members of Assembly were at loggerheads about voting money for the purpose of laying down buoys in the harbor without introducing a bill. Messrs. Yates and Skinner were for a bill; and Messrs. McKay and Pemberton were against it. There being consequently a tie vote, the casting vote was given by the Speaker against a bill. This was probably done to back up the unconstitutional manner in which the new public buildings were authorized. The merest tyro in government knows that this was not a constitutional course. In fact it was nothing more nor less than an arbitrary act, treating the constitution as a dead letter. At the last sitting of the House, his Excellency asked for a grant in aid of the funds of the Royal Hospital. The object was good, and n grant should have been made long ago. Unanimously a resolution passed donating £250. Nothing further was done; no bill of supply was introduced, or even mentioned, So in this instance the constitution was treated as a doad letter; but perhaps not intentionally so as in the former case, In both these instances the Council is ignored. It is very true that the Council regard and esteem.

cannot alter, amend or originate a bill of supply. But that body may reject a bill if it considers the House has made too layish partially administered, and the interests of the Colonial it considers the House has made too lavish an expenditure of public money. On the other hand it may concur. The constitu-tion makes the consent of the three branches of the legislature necessary to make a bill of supply law,-although the Assombly has the sole right to originate it. In these cases no bills were sent to the Council for its concurrence, and no opportunity afforded by which they could be rejected. What then is the use of an Upper House? Is the power given to it by the constitution treated as a dead letter? Are constitutional checks entirely useless? It is possible that such invalid proceedings may raise important questions yet, Would it be strange if some future committee on public expenditure discovered that the appropriations were not constitutionally made? What effect would it have on the treasurer? Would he not have to return the money which had been paid away without being authorized by law? Or would an act be necessary for his relief? Were we treasurer, all money over which the legislature had any control, would remain in the vaults till it was appropriated constitutionally. Did any one ever know the House of Commons to pass a resolution donating money, and then send a copy to the Queen?

THE FORT ALLEXANDER MINES.

We have had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. W. Arthur, a reliable gentleman, who has been engaged as a practical miner on Fraser's river for over a year past. When California is compared with British Columbia as regards surface diggings, he thinks the latter immeasurably better. The old cry, want of roads and provisions is, however, the great drawback to the country. It is now two weeks since he left the Fort George country, 120 miles above Fort Alexander. Almost everywhere $5 and $6 dollars can be made. He saw two miners, who, after being four weeks on Canal river, had $600 each. No one has prospected beyond two miles from its banks. At Canoe Bar, 100 miles from its banks. At Canoe Bar, 100 miles above Alexander, one company were making from $50 to $60 per day to the hand. On the North Fork of Canal river the office of the New Westminster Times.

coarse gold is found. The yield is principally fine gold however. The pay dirt varies from six inches to one foot in depth; but in one place he saw parties who were working pay dirt six feet deep. Seventy or eighty men will winter in the upper country. Great numbers would remain if provisions could be had at reasonable prices. Near Big Bar, Fraser river, many companies intend to winter. Twenty or thirty boats had been built to ascend the river. Nearly all the travel is made in boats. The H. B. Company use them also. Winter usually lasts about four months. Quartz boulders are plenty; but no veins have been discovered. The country is flat, and wooded thickly with pine and fir. Back from the river are extensive tracts of prairie, beautiful grazing lands. Mr. A. has the impression that there will be a great rush for the upper country next year, as there is no doubt of it being highly auriforous.

The Gazette de France says that a peace-footing is "understood to comprise the ability to have 560,000 mon under arms at a month's notice, and the finest naval force in the world."

GENTREMEN :- I have the honor to acknowledge the GENIEMEN:—I have the monor to acknowledge the receipt of your very kind and complimentary address upon my retiring from the position of Magistrate at Yor! Hope; and I assure you that it gives me great pleasure to know that I have merited your approbation. It has ever been my constant endeavor while in office to do pustice to fail; and wherever I have fallen short, it has been the fault of the head and not the heart. We have been the fault of the head and not the heart. We have had a very quiet town, which in a great measure must be attributed to the respect paid to the laws by you—I having ever fo und you ready and willing to give me all the assistance in your power. Permit me to thank you for your many acts of disinterested kindness; and believe me that I will long, with pleasure, remember my friends and acquaintances made in Fort Hope.

The Organ of the absentees advoeates an Executive Council for British Copartments, merchants and others. It assures the public that it knows his Excellency has the authority to do so. This is equivalent to saying he has not performed his duty, which if true, in Times' language he is a "falschead." But the Governor has no such authority as will enable him to establish an Executive Council. The Constitution of our sister colony was made by an act of Parliament. In it there is no such thing as an Executive Council. No Colonial Secretary could therefore give such instructions. But a dispatch was sent a year ago establish Representative Institutions "without delay." That is what should be done, and the colony will never prosper until it is done. Let the institutions of the country be free; and give the offices to men who live there,-and who intend to spend their lives there; not to birds of passage who merely visit it to feather their nests.
